MANN KING, Sec'y

The Valley Sunday was as fair a spot as man ever gazed upon. The day was a perfect one, the rain the day before had brightened and freshened the lawns and foliage, and all nature seemed to smile.

The many friends of Allan Hinchey will be glad to know that he has been appointed to the position of superintendent of the Missouri Tie and Timber Co., located in Carter county.—De Soto Republican.

Mr. H. B. Smith, the able assistant of Dean Potter, Grace Church, Kirkwood, held services at St. Paul's Church Sunday evening last, which were very much enjoyed by the large congregation present.

Francis Mesnard, better known as "the old Frenchman," died at his home in north Ironton Monday morning, after quite a prolonged illness. The deceased was almost eighty years of age, and had lived here many years.

There will be an ice cream festival and entertainment at the Academy of Music, Thursday evening, June 5th, under the auspices of the Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's Church, Ironton. Admission free; all are most cordially invited.

The dance given by the soldiers at the Academy of Music Tuesday night was well attended and proved a most enjoyable occasion indeed. It was an orderly and well-behaved crowd and nothing marred the pleasure of the evening.

The ladies' of the Baptist Aid Society desire to thank the public in general for their liberal patronage of the apron bazar last Thursday. Also, are they under many obligations to the preachers, which rendered the occasion a very pleasant one. The gross receipts aggregated almost $122.

The force of graders which have been working on the new railroad east of town passed through last Saturday afternoon on their way to the vicinity of Flat River where they began work Monday morning. The work on the new road is being pushed rapidly all along the line, and we understand the company expects to have trains running between St. Louis and Flat River by the first of the year.—Farmington News.

A new time card went into effect on the road Sunday. The most important change is in the time of the north-bound day passenger train, which now gets here at 10:27 instead of 11:28, as heretofore. The train now gets in St. Louis at 2:10 in the afternoon. No. 1 now gets here at 5:30 instead of 5:25. No other changes.

A personal concerning the arrival of a fine girl at the home of Senator and Mrs. Frank H. Farris on the 9th last, was overlooked by our foreman and failed to appear in our last issue. We are glad to know that mother and child are both getting along nicely during this extremely hot weather.—Crawford County Democrat.

Word was received last week from Cadott, Wisconsin, that Peter Dietzler has been most seriously injured by a piece of timber falling on his head. At the time the letter was written an operation was about to be performed, but the surgeons had little or no hope for his recovery. Mr. Dietzler has many friends here who hope to hear of his recovery.

Our young friend, J. Lopez, had what might be termed a very lucky runaway last Sunday evening. He had hitched his horse in front of the store and went to supper. In some way the horse got loose and started down the street at a break-neck gait. He kept on Main street till the courthouse was reached and turned toward Dr. Goulding's. Dr. Goulding stopped the animal in front of his residence. Neither horse nor buggy were damaged.

Francis Augustus Mesnard was born near Nantes, France, October 16, 1823, and emigrated to the United States and settled in St. Louis in 1859. Enlisted in Co. L, 4th Regiment U. S. Reserved Corps May 8, 1861, on the ninety-day call, and was discharged August 18, 1861. He moved to Iron County, Mo., Feb. 24, 1866. Was granted a soldier's naturalization at Ironton, October 26, 1868. He died in Ironton May 26, 1902, aged 78 years, 7 months and 10 days.

Rev. J. B. Rice, pastor of Methodist church, created quite a sensation by appearing in his pulpit clad in a neat fitting shirt waist. Several members of the congregation were attired in the popular summer garment which has apparently come to stay. The adoption of this sensible method will make attendance at religious services during the warm season one of pleasure instead of duty, and Rev. Rice's example could be copied with great comfort by other ministers.—Popular Bluff Citizen.

On May 15th the Willing Workers of the Presbyterian Church most delightfully entertained the Ladies' Aid Societies of the Methodist and Baptist Churches, and the Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal Church, at the home of Mrs. W. J. Schwab. After the reception of the guests refreshments, consisting of ice cream, strawberries, cake and coffee, were served. A number of kodak pictures were secured as souvenirs of the occasion. To the charming hostess all present are indebted for happy memories of a most pleasant afternoon.

Harrison Miner, a youth about 20 years of age, was arraigned before the U. S. Commissioner here Saturday, charged with having passed a ten dollar counterfeit bill on Dr. J. R. Adams at Goodland on May 3d. The evidence disclosed that Miner had gone to Adams' store, made a purchase of ninety-five cents, tendered the Confederate bill in payment and received the change in lawful money. Miner was held for the grand jury. It is said that there is considerable of this Confederate money in circulation in the west end of this county.

It is supposed that the company that is now laying ties and steel in St. Genevieve and St. Francois counties is the same company that is now surveying near Salem. Mo. This survey crossed the St. L. & M. & S. R'y at Irondale and are now coming west toward Salem, and that this survey will meet the road now being built from Silgo to Red Point, and then proceed west. It is also stated that the company at Silgo have bought about 150 mules and $2000 worth of harness, besides a large number of tools necessary for construction, and are making all preparations for grading. It is supposed that this branch road will be built largely by contract.—Irondale Gazette.

I acknowledge with pleasure the receipt of a copy of "Barney's Information Guide to the City of St. Louis." It is a condensed and accurate guide for said World's Fair City. Containing the best map of the city ever issued, showing the grounds on which is to be held the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, the parks, railroads and street car lines, location of streets and the shortest way to reach any given number, together with interesting data not heretofore published. Of course the author's other name is Frauenthal; it is polite, though not necessary, to mention it, and the REGISTER is the pink of courtesy always. A better man, or a wiser in his line, than Barney never lived!

Louis Miller, the contractor began work on the new trust company's building this week and will push the work to completion. It will contain banking rooms, one large and two small store rooms and about 85 office rooms. It will be two stories high, built of pressed brick and front of some hundred feet, both on the square and on West Main street. It is probable the postoffice and the Tribune, as well as the other principal enterprises of the town will be located in this new block. The whole cost is to be $20,750, and it is to be completed by the middle of September. It will be the most up-to-date building in Fredericktown, supplied with electric lights, water works and steam heat.—Fredericktown Tribune.

The training school now has forty students, and is progressing very satisfactorily. The training school, which closed June 13th and the institute began June 16th. Here are the names of those in attendance on the training school: Cora Hightower, Letha Allen, Hartford Collins, Marion Golightly, Clara Hanson, Alice Love, Oka Mullin, Ruby Royburn, Paul Steel, Geo. Whitworth, A. L. Warren, Meda Baldwin.

Mable Moore, Fanny Markham, F. R. Cole, Ella Collins, Warren Prince, Alice Sloan, Roy Steel, Leva Edmonds, Allison Tims, Dora Biemel, Ethel Collins, Adele Hanson, Leota Hawkins, Willard Love, Ada Marshall, Herman Riecke, Jennie Snyder, Jno. Edmonds, Essie Yount, Eva Riley, Ethel Barnhouse, Hattie Huff, Olivia Bollinger, Geo. Baldwin, Jettie Sloan, Ava Sloan, B. P. Burnham, Edward Jones.

Last Sunday was a perfect day. The skies were bright and the sun shone with a not too ardent glow. The soft southern breezes fanned alike the fair and the bearded cheek, and played with slithering tresses flowing free. It was indeed an ideal picnic day, and the crowd that came in on the excursion train at noon seemed to be enjoying it to the limit. Every laddie had a lassie that day and had her with him—except one laddie of doubtful age, whom I could name if I wanted to—and happiness sat on every face. At Arcadia the excursionists were met by a delegation of citizens headed by the A. V. Cornet Band, and marched thence to the College Park—for this was the Silver Jubilee of the Ursuline Academy. At the entrance to the grounds welcome was given to the advancing hosts, and soon the beautiful grove was filled with life and merriment. Tables of ample dimensions were there, filled with edibles in tempting profusion. In a trice the seating capacity of the festival grounds was to its limit by the hungry throngs. Fair waiters hurried to and fro in delightful confusion, and the light laughter of the guests was mingled with the clatter and jingle of dish and knife and spoon. The beauty of the grounds, after the satisfying of the inner man, was seen and acknowledged of all: the lake, the buildings, the unobtrusive trees, and the living green of the well-kept lawn made a picture pleasing to every eye, and one that must have been especially grateful to the city dwellers unaccustomed to their dull daily prospect of brick and stone and iron. At 2:30 o'clock the doors to the spacious and elegant college hall were thrown open, and the room was quickly filled. Here they were entertained with a rare program rarely rendered of drama and music. The three-act drama entitled "The Crusades" was a historical production of the eleventh century, with scenes laid in Italy, France and Jerusalem. The plot, attractive throughout, illustrated the siege and the taking of Jerusalem, July, 1099, by the Christians; also the difficulties experienced by the crusaders in the spreading of Christianity. The play was well staged with scenery and costumes, and each character was well represented as follows: "Godfrey de Bouillon," prince of Lorraine and king of Jerusalem, by Miss Clara Nugent; "Tancred," prince of Tiberias, by Miss Frankie Mott; "Adhemar de Montell," bishop of Puy, by Miss Florence Gay; "Simon," patriarch of Jerusalem, by Miss Florence Buggy; "Peter of Amiens," Miss Clara Lucius; "Florine," princess of St. Agata, by Miss Nellie Bigley; "Agnes," countess of Lorraine, by Miss Pauline Weinsberg; "Bertha," countess of Calabria, by Miss Mamie Roehry; "Emma," countess of Finstort, by Miss May Concanon; "Ursula," countess of Rouche, by Miss Lizzie McNairy; "Elfrida," countess of Etienne, by Miss Lessita Elliott; "Stephen," count of Chartres, by Miss Gertrude Smith; "Robert," count of Flanders, by Miss Barbara Brandt; "Eustace de Bourg," count of Caesarea, by Miss Leona Dandy; "Louts de Blois," count of Horacles, by Miss Clara Holtschneider; "Baldwin," count of Vermondia, by Miss Fannie Tiedebohl; "Hugo," count of Bologne, by Miss Kathleen Mullany; "Raymond," count of Toulouse, by Miss Amy Slack; "Polycarpe," a Christian pilgrim, by Miss Ellen Howrhan; "Solomon," Turkish boy, by Miss Georgia Riley; "Ashmed," Turkish officer, by Miss Myrtle Mangold; also, Turkish and Christian soldiers and pages. Interposing and forming the dramatic part of the programme several musical selections from Beethoven, Rossini and Mendelssohn were rendered. At the conclusion of the entertainment everybody resorted again to the park, and by the time lunch was served the train was calling for its passengers. But they did not part without many a hearty expression of good will to the good Sisters and all connected with the Arcadia College. During the day the band did its utmost to help entertain the visitors with frequent selections, and it may be said succeeded fairly well. The entertainment given Sunday was for the excursionists, and Monday evening it was repeated for the residents of the Valley and vicinity. Everything passed smoothly and pleasantly, and the Silver Jubilee of the Ursuline Academy will dwell in the memory of every one until its successor, the Golden Jubilee, shall come to again remind men of the endurance and perpetuity of righteous institutions.
